UNODC CONSULTATIVE MEETING WITH UPS MANAGEMENT

The Commissioner General of Prisons, UNODC-Global Programme Coordinator. UNODC- Head of Office Uganda and Commissioner of Prisons (Safety and Security)

The UNDOC and UPS senior management held a consultative meeting on the Prevention and Countering of Violent Extremism in Prisons at the Sheraton Hotel. With the terrorism threat Worldwide, it has become increasingly evident that the prison environment is a fertile ground for recruitment and radicalization of prisoners detained for different offences into violent extremism.

The consultation meeting between UPS Senior Management and UNODC was to update senior management on the progress of the implementation of the Joint Global Programme in Uganda.

The existing curriculum for training prisons officers in Uganda was developed before the problem of violent extremism was an issue and as such did not cover the subject of violent extremism in the prison context and how prisons officers can prevent and counter such.

The Commissioner General of Prisons - Can. Dr. Johnson Byabashaija and Ms. Vera Tkachenko, the Global Programme Coordinator, Justice Section of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC) based at its headquarters in Vienna, Austria officially launched the publications which have been in development for the past one year between the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime under the Joint Global Programme "Supporting the Management of Violent Extremist Prisoners and the Prevention of Radicalization to Violence in Prisons" with trainers from the Prisons Academy and Training School of the Uganda Prisons Service.

The commissioner General applauded the UNODC for developing tools that will be used in preventing radicalization and reducing the spread of violent extremism in Prisons, he pledged full support in the improvement and implementation of the developed tools focusing on four (4) key major priority areas of security and safety mechanisms in Prisons; Risks and needs assessments of Prisoners; Prisons based disengagement interventions, social rehabilitation and reintegration of offenders.

"Uganda Prisons Service is currently in custody of 102 inmates on terrorism related charges of which nine (9) are convicted and 93 are still undergoing trials", he further revealed.

Ms. Vera Tkachenko, the UNODC global coordinator extended much gratitude to the Uganda Prisons Service top management for the continued partnership in reducing violence in Uganda, "Our major challenges have been congestion in Prisons globally brought about by poor living conditions, case back logs and increase in prison population". She added.

The objective of this initiative by UNODC and UPS is to contribute to strengthening the resilience of prisoners against violent extremism and radicalization while respecting human rights standards.

TRAINING MAKES PERFECT: CUSTOMER CARE EXTENDED TO MID-CENTRAL REGION.

CP Frank Baine leads the team of O.C's and senior officers from mid central region for a group photo after the training in Mubende.

Commissioner of Prisons (Corporate Affairs) Frank Baine conducted customer care and public relations trainings to Officers in Charge and Senior Officers of Mid-Central Region on the 13th November 2021 at Primerose Hotel in Mubende District.

Following his interaction with team, Mr. Baine highlighted much on the meaning, components of customer care and why it is required in respect to protecting the Prisons brand and it's uniqueness. The officers were also urged to apply professionalism and integrity in handling matters within their jurisdiction since customer care is key in management of Prisoners, staff and general administration of the modern Prisons settings.

He emphasised much on crisis management, adherence to Prisons Rules and Regulations, positive interpersonal relationships, proper channels of communications, financial literacy and social responsibility. Encouraging them to work hard to harmonize their families by fulfilling parental roles and responsibilities saying that most of the family roles have been neglected since parents are doing the roles of children and maids are doing the roles of the parents and therefore children are doing nothing and this results into unproductive of upcoming generation to the society.

"Always work to achieve the best in your daily duties, respect each other and educate young officers on how they can generate house hold income so that they can grow and develop their families, this will enhance social economic transformation of Ugandans to a middle income society since they are the future generation".

Addressing on the issue of Media, the participants were reminded to keenly observe proper channels of transmitting information compelling them to be conscious and watchful, "Avoid dissemination of unnecessary information especially when using social media platforms such as Face book, Twitter, WhatsApp and many more, they are very injurious in regards to the reputation of the service".

On behalf of the officers present, Superintendent of Prisons – Atuzo Walter (District Prisons Commander-Mityana) appreciated Uganda Prisons through it's Public Relations Office for initiating trainings on customer care, public relations, household demography and financial literacy.

The facilitator using other methods of delivering information to the participants

Mr. Baine during the customer care training session

CP (CA) Frank Baine encouraged officers to work hard and harmonize their families by fulfilling parental roles and responsibilities saying that most of the family roles have been neglected since parents are not performing the duties taking care of children but rather Maids are doing the roles of the parents, therefore children are doing nothing and this results into unproductive upcoming generation to the society.

UNODC DONATE TO UPS

The United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC)-Uganda Programme Office on Wednesday 3 November 2021 handed over medical equipment to Uganda Prisons Service (UPS) due to be used at the High Dependency Unit (HDU) at the Staff Treatment Centre at Luzira, this is part of its COVID19 response support to Uganda Prisons Service. The equipment consists of Hospital Oxygen 4-5-way airflow splitters, Oxygen non-rebreathe patient masks and hospital Oxygen regulators as well as coveralls and face shields.

During the hand over at the Kampala Extra Region offices in Luzira, Commissioner of Prisons (Health) John Bosco Tumwebaze expressed much gratitude to the UNODC HIV/AIDS section for providing the funding for the donated equipments.

The UNODC - Head of Office Uganda, Ms. Sharon Lesa Nyambe highlighted that the donation is in addition to what UNODC gave to Uganda Prisons Service during the first wave of COVID19 lockdown that consisted of seven video conferencing equipment to facilitate virtual court hearings and ensured that prisoners continued to access justice which is intended to reduce prison overcrowding.

UNODC also provided phone handsets and airtime to Uganda Prisons Services to be used by prisoners in 16 COVID19 isolation centres to communicate with their relatives and lawyers during lockdown when prison visits were restricted.

Representatives from UPS receiving the equipments from UNODC in Luzira

This was in addition to hospital beds, mattresses, bed sheets, blankets to support five newly established COVID19 treatment centres in prisons. Another water tanks, mattresses, blankets and cartons of soap were provided to enhance water and sanitation in these regional isolation prisons.

UNODC has also provided sports equipment for prisoner's recreation and development of talents and skills using sporting activities, fuel to transport 4,000 released prisoners to go back to their homes was provided early last year.

UNODC head of Office-Uganda, M/s Nyambe hands over Nelson Mandela tool kit to CP (Health) John Bosco Tumwebaze

HEALTH FOCUS

Murchison Bay Prison Hospital surgical team headed by Dr. Abdu Lubega conducting major abdominal surgery for an inmate fundoplication using the Bipolrdiathermy techniques. Much appreciation is extended to the Commissioner General of Prisons for his able leadership and UPS Health department for having equipped the only modern theater in the Uganda Prisons Health system

PROMOTING HEALTH, TRADE AND FOOD SECURITY IN UPS BY REDUCING THE RISK OF AFLATOXIN IN CROPS

What are aflatoxins?

Aflatoxins are poisonous compounds produced by moulds/fungi which invade improperly dried foods processed from contaminated raw materials of some agricultural crops like maize and soya beans, peanuts, cottonseed, and tree nuts. The main fungi that produce aflatoxins are Aspergillus flavus and Aspergillus parasiticus, which are abundant in warm and humid regions of Uganda.

Commissioner of Prisons (Farms) Andrew Kisitu describes Aflatoxin as a very dangerous producing fungi which can contaminate crops majorly cereals in the field, at time of harvest and during storage. How are people exposed to aflatoxins?

Mr. Kisitu terms Aflatoxins as toxic and poisonous in nature, "people can be exposed to aflatoxins by eating contaminated plant products (such as maize grain) or by consuming meat or dairy products from animals that ate contaminated feed".

Commissioner of Prisons (Farms) Andrew Kisitu

Agricultural workers, inmates and other farmers may be exposed to Aflatoxins by inhaling dust generated during the handling and processing of contaminated crops and feeds.

Which cancers are associated with exposure to aflatoxins?

Exposure to aflatoxins is associated with an increased risk of liver cancer.

Acute toxicity results when someone takes in a high amount of aflatoxins in a very short time. Most common signs and symptoms are: Nausea, Yellowing of skin and sclera (icterus), Itching, Vomiting, Bleeding, Abdominal pain, Lethargy, Edema, Convulsions, Coma and Death

According Mr. Kisitu, Aflatoxins contamination of food stuff commences immediately from the farm where crops are planted, during crop growth and the process is continues through a value chain through harvests until storage.

Major types and metabolism of Aflatoxins?

Aflatoxin B1 is considered the most toxic and is produced by both Aspergillus flavus and Aspergillus parasiticus. Aflatoxin M1 is present in the fermentation broth of Aspergillus parasiticus, but it and aflatoxin M2 are also produced when an infected liver metabolizes aflatoxin B1 and B2.

- Aflatoxin B1 and B2 (AFB), produced by Aspergillus flavus and A. parasiticus
  - Aflatoxin G1 and G2 (AFG), produced by some Group II A. flavus and Aspergillus parasiticus
  - Aflatoxin M1 (AFM1), metabolite of aflatoxin B1 in humans and animals (exposure in ng levels may come from a mother's milk)
  - Aflatoxin M2, metabolite of aflatoxin B2 in milk of cattle fed on contaminated foods
  - Aflatoxicol (AFL): metabolite produced by breaking down the lactone ring
  - Aflatoxin Q1 (AFQ1), major metabolite of AFB1 in in vitro liver preparations of other higher vertebrates
- AFM, AFQ, and AFL retain the possibility to become an epoxide. Nevertheless, they appear much less capable of causing mutagenesis than the unmetabolized toxin.

Mr. Kisitu highlighted that the Uganda Prisons farm department has continued to adopt key farming methodologies and practices that have been implemented in major cereals growing farm Prisons country such as Lugore, Isimba, Oromtikao, Ragem, Mubuku, Amita among others and they include:

- Agricultural Mechanisation.
- Timely harvests to minimize damage of crop products as soon as they are ready.
- Control of pests such as rodents and insects using recommended storage pesticides and mechanisms
- Proper drainage control and water management through irrigation practices.
- Proper shelling of seeds in the field of planting and further drying the grains.
- Timely land preparations and planting of crops majorly in rows
- Crop disease control using approved chemicals.
- Proper storage and post harvest handling
- Keen sample-testing of produce for aflatoxins contamination before

IMPROVED LIVESTOCK PRODUCTION AND PRODUCTIVITY IN UPS

The livestock industry is a proven venture and a source of food which has been considered a survival enterprise for a thousands of staff and inmates within the Uganda Prisons Service especially during the Christmas season where cattle are slaughtered majorly for staff and inmates consumption. Not only targeting food production, it has also become gainful source of employment for veterinary professionals.

Over the years, Uganda Prisons Service has met the ever-increasing demands of it's staff and the general public by improving on the quality of livestock products.

Commissioner of Prisons (Farms) - Kisitu stretched that the effect of seasonality on livestock production in Uganda Prisons Service is very important because during rainy seasons, the forge biomass is higher in quality and quantity with crude protein up to 9 percent in most of the native grasses while during dry seasons the protein level drops and roughage quantity increases.

Boran calves move out a calf barn at Isimba Prisons Farm in Masindi.

UPS majorly produces Boran cattle breeds for beef, freshians for milk production and other small ruminants like sheep and goats of both local and exotic breeds.

Through aid from different stakeholders, "We have managed to establish different livestock projects in three categories namely: the beef fattening project, Dairy Project majorly for milk production and small ruminants, the beef cattle act as a source of food and income mean while the dairy project provide milk for which act as supplements for breastfeeding mothers, staff and inmates living with HIV", he said.

Over 200 heads of cattle are slaughtered every year for consumption of Uganda Prisons Staff and inmates country wide due to its enrichment in Proteins

The demand and usefulness of animal products for human health and survival, economic and industrial growth as well as provision of other social services are ever increasing.

According to Mr. Kisitu, Some strategies for purposeful development of the livestock industry (animal production) in the Uganda Prisons Service are suggested as follows:

- (1) Careful selection of local breeding stock from breed and individual records.
- (2) National upgrading and breeding programs involving exotic and local breeds even in urban farming, thereby mass producing the heterozygous offspring for production purposes.
- (3) Careful exploration of various farming systems even in the subsistence farming system to ensure availability of feed-stuff throughout the year and intensification agricultural production system
- (4) Feed quality improvement through deliberate supplementation and range exploitation to meet daily requirements for various nutrients.
- (5) Exploitation of the biological abilities of the stock to derive maximally from the availability feed-stuff in agribusiness .
- (6) Establishment of a responsive and resilient animal health system on agri that is capable of quick intervention, continuous and effective management of animal diseases and their predisposing agents and condition to enable us achieve a sustainable Agriculture.

LUMPY SPRAY AT LOGORE PRISON FARM:

A modern disease control unit for alleviation of tick borne diseases has been constructed, the holding ground is able to house atleast 250 animals and be used for practical illustrations to farmers on how to mix and apply acaricides.

UGANDA PRISONS INDUSTRIES

Prisons Industries provides rehabilitation services to offenders by imparting vocational skills which they gainfully use after release.

It has also offered employment, particularly to long sentence prisoners to occupy them while serving their sentences. In the FY 2020/2021 21,996 inmates enrolled for Industrial Vocational Training activities in 122 prisons country wide of which 20,857 are male inmates and 1,139 females.

VICTORY AGAIN: PRISONS HANDBALL CLUB CROWNED LEAGUE CHAMPIONS

Uganda Prisons Handball Club officially wrapped up the Uganda Handball Super League 2021 as champions in a record 8th time despite losing 32-30 to bitter rivals Police Handball Club at Old Kampala Sports Arena following a highly intensified day time horizon.

AIGP Sorowen handing over the trophy to Prisons Handball Club team

Dubbed the "Prisons Spears", the Luzira based secured their league title earlier this week following an easy win past Ever Green, but the fans had to wait until today so as to be granted victory amidst an electronic atmosphere covered by joy and jubilations, this capped their magnificent Handball dominance in Uganda with eight consecutive league titles.

Prisons Head Coach Benard Opoka revealed his excitement winning the trophy as both a coach and player, "Am happy that the fruits of our hard work has yielded today, we had a good un beaten run that we protected for years but today it's no more, the boys fought bravely today but ran out of steam in stoppage time. Nevertheless, we still have a lot to celebrate, that's the title which means a lot for the boys, am looking towards representing Uganda in the continent and make a statement there".

Jubilations after victory

Having produced notable talented players who show cased with thunder clap displays throughout the season, like; Kongo Ibrahim, Ojok Gilbert, Isaamat Anthony, Okello Michael, Musoke Douglas, Atandu Jonathan and Obur Jimmy among others, Prisons Handball Club will therefore represent Uganda in the Upcoming African Handball Club Champions

PRISONS NETBALL CLUB NARROW THE GAP TO N.I.C

Prisons Netball Club moved to within one 1 point behind the National Netball Super League leaders NIC after a hard fought 50-46 victory against Weyonje Netball Club on a cloudy Saturday mid-afternoon clash in Kibuli.

Playing their final first round fixture as teams head for a long Christmas break, Coach Imeldah Nyongesa's side took lead in the first and third quarter winning 14-8 and 12-11 respectively mean while Wenyonjo dominating the second quarter on a 13-16 lead and sharing 11-11 spoils in the final quarter which wasn't enough to change the score board.

The majority of the goals for the Prisons Queens were much converted by GA Nakabuye Hadijja who improved on her tallying and managed to put 28 past the Makindye based Club, well built Namulumba Christine Kango was also on top of her game completing the 22 goals while playing in the Goal Shooting position.

Action packed Prisons Queens on duty against Weyonje

Versatile mid-court Meeme Ruth WA Wasagali Alice kept the cabbage collectors busy on their toes all day with fine runs, assists and ball distribution attributes paving way for goal scoring directions upfront. Asingo Viola, Nanyonga Slyvia and Tausi Mumena also did their best in their respective positional plays.

The Prisons Queens maturity improved in the third and final quarter following the introduction of Ajio Lilian and Kekimuli Catherine who condensed the intensity of the game granting the Luzira based victory at stoppage time.

"We are proud to always turn up victorious in game situations, the team is unbeaten in almost eight matches, that's a good record of a champion first round finds us in a friendly zone of topping the league at the end, we have to work much more harder and win all our matches in the second with 100% record and victory is ours at the end, we have the best players in the league whom am comfortable of playing with, am not forgetting to wish a Merry Christmas to all our fans and a prosperous New Year", Jovial Skipper Ajio Lillian revealed.

The win pushed mighty Prisons to sixteen points second place behind table leaders NIC who have 17 points garnered from nine matches, Prisons have so far registered a good winning stretch of eight 8 matches losing only one 1 as they head into the final half of the season.
